

Debaters To Compete

The University of Kentucky debate team, from left, Karl Merchant, Barbourville; Jeff Langford, Louisville; Carl Brown, Louisville, and Jim Flegle, Bardwell, displaying trophies

they won at the University of South Carolina tournament last week. They will debate at the Ohio State University tournament at Columbus this weekend.

Dr. Wirth In Dental Practice

G. Wirth has opened the practice of
East Main

Myers Honored With DTD Award

J. Carlisle Myers, Jr. of Lexington has been cited to membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

The award is the highest the fraternity can bestow. Mr. Myers was honored at a Founders Day banquet Chapter of

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Deadly Du

When bugs invaded of honeydew melons, enlisted the services of a dusting company. The promptly sent out a spray the field. But prevailing breezes, the dust drifted to the be a neighbor's farm.

Bees languished and the thousands. Result, a suit filed against the dusting company by the who owned the bees.

In court, the company testified that it could not be responsible for the damage the weather. Nevertheless, the court granted the claim. The court pointed out that the pilot, if he had been reasonably careful, would have foreseen the danger of the wind dying down.

Crop dusting zoomed in popularity after World War II, plus airplanes were surplus. So were surplus planes. They were new and efficient.

But, like many